CATHOLIC DIOCESE OF SPOKANE

Selection from Bishop Daly's Pastoral Letter 05-25:

Eucharistic Images

At the end of a busy day overflowing with activity, imagine walking into the tranquility of your parish church. In this holy place, your gaze comes to rest on the altar. It is to this altar the newly baptized is drawn when rising from the baptismal waters; it is to this altar your body will be carried when your earthly pilgrimage has been completed. Between one's first and last day, there are those many days when one first skips, then strolls, and finally shuffles to the altar of sacrifice to receive the Body and Blood of Christ. The altar, that consecrated stone on which the Eucharistic Sacrifice takes place, represents Christ the "living stone" upon whom we "like living stones" are to be built into a spiritual house.⁵

Imagine now as you sit in the refreshing quiet of the church, people of all ages, from all walks of life, approach the altar; the priest appears and Mass begins. Through the readings and prayers of the Mass, one is made aware that the faithful are not alone in this most sacred act of worship. In the Mass two angelic hymns are heard, the Gloria and the Sanctus: the Gloria, first sung by angels on the night of Jesus' birth⁶ and the Sanctus, sung unceasingly by angelic choirs surrounding God's throne.⁷ In the Mass, our voices blend with theirs in singing God's praise.

Where the Eucharist is celebrated there is the threshold of heaven and earth. The voices of patriarchs and prophets are heard in the Old Testament readings; the voices of martyrs and saints are heard in the New Testament readings. Angels, patriarchs and prophets, martyrs and saints, all the citizens of heaven, join their voices to ours in praising God. As the Divine Word is the Author of the Sacred Scriptures and its subject, the Old Testament readings foretell the Christ who is to come and prefigure the Eucharistic gift He has left us. Abel's offering from his flock, Melchizedek's offering of bread and wine, Abraham's offering of Isaac, his only son: these Old Testament offerings foreshadow Christ's offering of Himself on the cross and the Eucharistic offering at the altar.⁸ "Under the old law it was the flesh of calves and goats that was offered, but here Christ himself, the true God, is set before us as our food."⁹ In the Sacred Scriptures we are told of how the early Church shared the Eucharist, the same Eucharist we share today. At the altar we receive "the Blood of the new and eternal covenant ..."¹⁰ to which all Old Testament sacrifices and covenants lead.

Standing amidst the heavenly and earthly congregation is the priest. He is given a unique role in this cooperative work of creation. While his voice is frequently one with that of the faithful, it is his voice alone that is heard at the heart of the Eucharistic Prayer; the voice is his, but the words he speaks are those of Christ. In the words he speaks and in the actions he performs we encounter the unseen High Priest, Jesus Christ.

Happy Easter! He Is Risen!

Dear Friends,

Because of the dates of Holy Week this year, which began near the end of March and carried over into the first days of April, your April issue begins on Monday, April 5, the first day after Easter.

Think of it this way: when you open your April MAGNIFICAT, you will hit the ground running, overjoyed and eager to run forth with the Good News of Easter.

May we please continue to keep each other in prayer. I pray regularly for you—all the readers of MAGNIFICAT—and I hope that this Easter brings you great joy, especially after the difficulties and challenges we have faced over the past year.

He is risen! Alleluia!

In Jesus, Mary, and Joseph,
Rev. Sebastian White, O.P., Editor-in-Chief
